DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The attempt to incorporate subject matter into this application by reference to 09/411547 is ineffective because it is a non-related case and has no subject relevant to this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 30,31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cragg (2001/49527). Cragg discloses a method of replacing a disc nucleus with an implant, paragraph 158. Cragg additionally discloses the implant can be an annulus (paragraph, 174), which inherently is a whole disc since it intended to be used as an envelope. Cragg also discloses that implant materials can be allogenic or xenogenic, paragraph 129. Since the annulus would be enclosing other implantable materials and is functioning as an envelope, it is "substantially free of disc nucleus material and endplate material".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 44,45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cragg '527 in view of Froning (3875595). Cragg is explained supra. However, Cragg fails to disclose the implant is folded or rolled into a more compact structure for delivery.

Art Unit: 3738

Froning teaches to fold the implant or envelope for easier delivery into the cavity or implant site, col. 3, lines 25,26. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to utilize a folded up structure and delivery device as taught by Froning with the implant of Cragg such that it enables the surgeon to utilize a small incision as possible. Regarding claim 45, it is inherent the annulus is cut since it has been removed from a donor to be used in the patient.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 33-38,46-49 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 1/8/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Regarding the specification objection, the comments made about the incorporated subject matter is noted in the response, however this subject matter is clearly not present in the application listed above, probably because the application number is wrong. Applicant argued the Cragg reference does not read on the claims. Applicant failed to distinguish how the claims avoid the Cragg reference. Applicant must discuss the references applied against the claims and any disagreements. Since no clear features are distinguished or proven that Cragg lacks such features the rejection is proper and maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
